

Discover Georgia's Hidden History

Help Explore the Impact of Spanish Colonization

A Hands-on Archaeology Program sponsored by Fernbank Museum of Natural History

Don't miss this extraordinary opportunity to gain experience in the methods of archaeology, while helping professional archaeologists in a search for new evidence of Spanish exploration and a lost mission. Through hands-on involvement, participants will learn the process of archaeological field research. Trained staff will provide instruction on how to properly excavate and how finds are studied to create new information. Activities take place on 400-year-old archaeological sites associated with native Indians and early Spanish colonists near the historic Ocmulgee River.

Visit fernbankmuseum.org/archaeology for more information.

☛ Where: Telfair and Coffee Counties, GA (near Jacksonville, GA)

☛ Who: Adults/College Students and High School Students
PLU credits Awarded for Georgia Teacher Participation
by the Heart of Georgia Youth Science & Technology Centers, Inc. (HGYSTC).

☛ When: Adults/College Students: June 2-6, 9-13, 23-27
High School Students: June 16-20

☛ Cost: Adults/College Students: $200 per week-long session
High School Students: $100 per week-long session
Space is limited, advance registration required.

Registration & Information:

Public Archaeology Programs Registration Coordinator

Phone: 404.929.6379

E-mail: archaeology@fernbank.edu

FERNBANK MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY®

767 Clifton Road, N.E. • Atlanta, GA 30307 • fernbankmuseum.org • 404.929.6300