DR. ILEANA ARIAS, Deputy Director

THE HONORABLE KASSIM REED
Mayor, City of Atlanta

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

"State of the City Address"

"CDC: Saving Lives, Protecting People"

Ileana Arias, PhD, serves as Principal Deputy Director for CDC and ATSDR. In this role, she serves as the principal advisor to the director on all scientific and programmatic activities of CDC/ATSDR. Dr. Arias is responsible for advising the director in all executive responsibilities, and shaping the policies and plans for CDC/ATSDR.

Before becoming Principal Deputy Director, Dr. Arias was the Director of the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control (NCIPC) since July 2005, where she has worked to prevent injuries and violence, and reduce their consequences.

She began her career as a research associate at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and then joined the University of Georgia in Athens as an assistant professor. Prior to joining CDC in 2000, Dr. Arias was the director of clinical training and professor of clinical psychology at the University of Georgia.

Dr. Arias holds a BA, from Barnard College, and a MA and PhD, both in psychology, from the State University of New York at Stony Brook and speaks fluent Spanish.

Mayor Kasim Reed serves as the city's 59th Mayor. He was first elected to the Georgia General Assembly in 1998 as State Representative for District 52, was re-elected in 2000, and served two terms as a member of the House Judiciary, Education and Legislative and Congressional Reapportionment Committees. In 2002, he continued his leadership as the State Senator for District 35, and served on the Senate Judiciary, Special Judiciary, Urban Affairs, Higher Education, Ethics, Transportation and the State and Local Government Operations Committees.

Mayor Reed was a partner at Holland and Knight LLP, an international law firm with offices in Atlanta. He served as campaign manager for Mayor Shirley Franklin's first and second campaigns. Following her election in November 2001, Mayor Franklin selected him to serve as a co-chair for the Transition Team.

Mayor Reed's civic leadership and service have been nationally recognized in numerous publications. He was named the 6th most influential African-American in the nation in 2012 by The Root and Governing Magazine named him one of the top state and local government officials of the year in 2011. He is a graduate of Howard University, where he received his BA, JD and honorary Doctor of Laws. Reed is a member of Cascade United Methodist Church.
