Chris Walters, COO
The Weather Channel
"The Business of Weather"

Chris Walters serves as chief operating officer for The Weather Company (TWC). He oversees TWC's technology, finance, legal, human resources, research and program management teams.

As COO of the Bloomberg Industry Vertical Group, Walters was responsible for operations, strategy, business development and expansion of the premium web-based subscription businesses. He launched Bloomberg Government in 2011, which quickly became a disruptive force in the market. In addition he led the acquisition of BNA, a major provider of legal information. Walters joined Bloomberg in 2008 as head of news and multimedia strategy, focusing on the future growth and strategic direction for the company's collection of media properties across TV, online, mobile and syndication. In that role he worked on the evaluation and completion of numerous partnerships, including UTV in India, and acquisition opportunities such as Business Week.

Previously, Walters was a partner at McKinsey & Company in NY, advising media, entertainment and investment companies, including TWC's principal investors. He started his career in marketing strategy for Hallmark Cards.

Walters is based at TWC's headquarters in Atlanta. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Vermont and an MBA from the University of Chicago.

Jingle Davis, Author
"St. Simon's Rediscovered in Island Time"

Jingle Davis is a retired journalist who worked for the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, often covering south Georgia and the coast.

Benjamin Galland is a photographer and partner with h2o Creative Group in Brunswick. Davis and Galland are both St. Simons natives.

Eighty miles south of Savannah lies St. Simons Island, one of the most beloved seaside destinations in Georgia and home to some twenty thousand year-round residents. In Island Time, Jingle Davis and Benjamin Galland offer a fascinating history and stunning visual celebration of this coastal community.
