JAMIL ZAINALDIN, President,
Georgia Humanities Council

“Jamil’s Georgia”

Jamil Zainaldin is president of the Georgia Humanities Council, a nonprofit organization working to ensure that humanities and culture remain an integral part of the lives of Georgians. The Council is a cultural leader in the state as well as a pioneer nationally in innovative history and humanities programs, including the New Georgia Encyclopedia.

The son of an Air Force enlisted man, Jamil grew up in many communities, but attended high school in Warner Robins. He holds degrees in history from the University of Virginia and the University of Chicago.

For over 30 years, Jamil has worked in the areas of history, education, and public policy, including leadership posts at the Federation of State Humanities Council and the American Historical Association. He has also taught the history of American law at Georgia Tech, Emory, and Georgetown Law Center. He is the co-author of Law and Jurisprudence in American History, a casebook published by West Publishing Company, now in its 8th edition.

In 2014 he began to publish “Jamil’s Georgia,” weekly columns in the Saporta Report where members of the Georgia Humanities Council and their colleagues discuss Georgia’s history, culture, and other stories that matter.

DR. CATHERINE LEWIS,
Professor and Historian

“Memories of the Mansion: The Story of Georgia's Governor's Mansion”

Dr. Catherine M. Lewis is a professor of history, Director of the Museum of History and Holocaust Education, and Assistant Vice President of Museums, Archives & Rare Books. She is also the president of the Georgia Association of Museums and Galleries.

She received her B.A. with honors in English and History at Emory University and M.A. and Ph.D. in American Studies at the University of Iowa. She is the author, co-editor, or co-author of eleven books, including The Changing Face of Public History: The Chicago Historical Society and the Transformation of an American History Museum and Don't Ask What I Shot: How Eisenhower's Love of Golf Helped Shape 1950s America.

She is also the Bobby Jones curator and Special Projects Coordinator at the Atlanta History Center, having curated more than 35 exhibits in her career for clients ranging from Augusta National Golf Club, Delta Air Lines, and the United Way of Metropolitan Atlanta (in this very room).

She has written her most recent book with Dr. Jennifer Dickey and First Lady Sandra Deal entitled Memories of the Mansion: The Story of the Georgia Governor's Mansion, which she will talk about today.
