

Metro Atlanta Chamber of Commerce establishes the Metro Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Political Action Committee (MAC PAC)

The state political environment in Georgia has changed dramatically in the last two years and continues to do so with the 2004 elections. In the past, talking to a few key leaders was the most effective way to pass legislation. Today's environment requires reaching out to a large number of the 236 state legislators. A PAC can provide access to a greater number of legislators and demonstrates that the Metro Atlanta business community is serious about these issues and is paying attention.
