Above: Bayshore Animal Hospital won the 2014 "Bras For A Cause" Contest to promote breast cancer awareness Saturday. The winning entry, "What the Catfish Dragged In" garnered the People's Choice Award. Some 28 bras were showcased. "Bras For A Cause" was sponsored by the Coastal Carolina Artists & Crafters Guild. The bra will be modeled and auctioned during Fashion Week, Sept 26-27. "What the Catfish Dragged In" was designed by Bayshore technician Cassie Minerva. Proceeds benefit the American Cancer Society and Relay for Life.

Dr. Ed Smallwood Receives 2014 Outstanding Alumni Award From Texas A&M

Indies. In 2013, he retired from NC State and was named Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Smallwood has served as an officer in many professional organizations, including president of the American Association of Veterinary Anatomists and president of the World Association of Veterinary Anatomists. He is a member of the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association and the American Veterinary Medical Association, and served as National Secretary-Treasurer of the Phi Zeta Honor Society for 24 years. As an active Rotarian, Dr. Smallwood has received the North Raleigh Rotary Club's Outstanding Rotarian of the Year Award, and served as Club President in 1993-94.

Dr. Smallwood has received numerous recognitions and teaching awards, including election to the NC State Academy of Outstanding Teachers and Chairman of the NC State Faculty Senate. His many teaching awards include the Texas Veterinary Medical Association's Faculty Achievement Award, the Texas A & M University Former Students Association Faculty Distinguished Achievement Award, the Norden Distinguished Teacher Award, the North Carolina State University Alumni Distinguished Professor Award, and the NC State Recipient of the UNC Board of Governors' Award for Excellence in Teaching. In 2002, Dr. Smallwood was honored with the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Association's Distinguished Veterinarian Award. He has also served on the board of directors of the North Carolina Physicians' Health Program, and as a member of the North Carolina Veterinary Health Program. In 2013, the North Carolina Veterinary Medical Foundation established and endowed "The Dr. James Edgar Smallwood Endowed Scholarship for Student Excellence."

Dr. Smallwood has authored 5 books, numerous book chapters, over 30 publications in refereed journals, and 35 other publications. He has served on many academic and veterinary committees, and has given numerous continuing education and outreach presentations.

He and his wife, Kay, have three daughters, one son, and four grandchildren. In his spare time, he enjoys fishing, square dancing and wood sculpturing.

Dr. Ed Smallwood graduated with a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Texas A&M University in 1969. He also holds a Bachelor's and Master's degree from the university. After receiving his DVM, he taught anatomy and radiology at the CVM until 1981, when he moved to NC State University's new College of Veterinary Medicine as Professor of Anatomy. From 2003-2013, he served as the Director of CVM Alumni Relations. Since 2002, he has been a part-time professor at St. George's University School of Veterinary Medicine in Grenada, West
