

Participants will understand how to use mentor sentences to teach....

- literary and rhetorical devices
- common grammar skills and language conventions
- students how to revise and edit their compositions after modeling the connections between mentor sentences, the writing process, and author's craft
- students how to think conscientiously about purposeful revision and editing
- students that with mentor sentences, we are exposing students to amazing craft with correct structure and mechanics, and helping them use those models to become student-authors

Transform your traditional teaching into integrated practices, see the students make that ever-important transfer to writing, and incorporate higher-order thinking into grammar!
